International Business Information Reports

The flow of business trade around the world has never been so vital, so large or so lucrative. Global merchandise exports and services are in the region of US $9 trillion every year. China and India are rapidly becoming economic powerhouses, the European Union is dedicated to ensuring long-term, sustainable cross border trade and the US market continues to present enormous opportunities.

However, despite these compellingly favorable trading conditions, doing business with overseas companies presents a unique set of challenges. If these are not considered carefully they can quickly lead to loss-making decisions. That's why you need the deepest insight possible into potential international partners.

Benefits

Experian provides you with global information on a wide range of businesses from over 225 countries, and delivers an essential and indispensable view into the robustness and pedigree of overseas companies.

The data we deliver is of exceptionally high quality. Compiled from our own vast data repository and in partnership with other leading business information providers worldwide, it is a critical resource that delivers vital business-growing insight.
